Commemorate a loved one in the RAF Garden of Remembrance

For over 100 years, the RAF has taken to the air to protect our nation through its darkest days. Now you can preserve the memory of a loved one forever by enabling them to take their place in the skies alongside these brave men and women.

Your support could help an injured airman get back on their feet, or the widow of a veteran receive practical help in later life. You could also help a family stay strong and connected despite the separation that comes with RAF service. All by raising the memory of your loved one high.

They rose to every challenge

Now you can raise the memory of your loved one high

An uplifting and inspiring memorial

Time and again, when our nation and our future was under threat, the brave service people of the RAF rose to the challenge. They were willing to make the ultimate sacrifice for their country. Each of them deserves a special place where their contribution can be remembered forever by the nation.

The Royal Air Forces Garden of Remembrance in the National Memorial Arboretum in Staffordshire is a beautiful and tranquil garden that is dedicated to all those who selflessly dedicated their lives to their country.

The focal point of the garden is a beautiful statue of the RAF Association's 'Eagle on the Globe' emblem. This inspiring setting is a place where you can remember the life of someone truly beloved in your own chosen way and let their memory soar.
